COGNITIVE THERAPY

Non-Discrimination Statement and Multi-Language Interpreter Services information are located at the end of this document.

Coverage for services, procedures, medical devices and drugs are dependent upon benefit eligibility as outlined in the member’s specific benefit plan. This Medical Coverage Guideline must be read in its entirety to determine coverage eligibility, if any.

This Medical Coverage Guideline provides information related to coverage determinations only and does not imply that a service or treatment is clinically appropriate or inappropriate. The provider and the member are responsible for all decisions regarding the appropriateness of care. Providers should provide BCBSAZ complete medical rationale when requesting any exceptions to these guidelines.

The section identified as “Description” defines or describes a service, procedure, medical device or drug and is in no way intended as a statement of medical necessity and/or coverage.

The section identified as “Criteria” defines criteria to determine whether a service, procedure, medical device or drug is considered medically necessary or experimental or investigational.

State or federal mandates, e.g., FEP program, may dictate that any drug, device or biological product approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) may not be considered experimental or investigational and thus the drug, device or biological product may be assessed only on the basis of medical necessity.

Medical Coverage Guidelines are subject to change as new information becomes available.

For purposes of this Medical Coverage Guideline, the terms "experimental" and "investigational" are considered to be interchangeable.

Description:

Cognitive therapy, also known as cognitive rehabilitation, is a structured set of therapeutic activities designed to retrain an individual’s ability to think, use judgment and make decisions. The focus is on improving deficits in memory, attention, perception, learning, planning and judgment. The term cognitive therapy/rehabilitation is applied to various intervention strategies or techniques that attempt to help individuals reduce, manage or cope with cognitive deficits caused by a brain injury or condition. The desired outcome of this intervention is to improve quality of life or to improve ability to function in home and community life.

Cognitive therapy may be performed by a physician, psychologist or a physical, occupational or speech therapist.

Cognitive therapy/rehabilitation is considered a separate service from other rehabilitative therapies, with its own specific procedures.

Criteria:

COVERAGE FOR COGNITIVE THERAPY IS DEPENDENT UPON BENEFIT PLAN LANGUAGE. REFER TO MEMBER’S SPECIFIC BENEFIT PLAN BOOKLET TO VERIFY BENEFITS.

If benefit coverage for cognitive therapy is available, requests for cognitive therapy will be reviewed by the medical director(s) and/or clinical advisor(s).

- If benefit coverage for cognitive therapy is available, cognitive therapy is considered medically necessary with documentation of ALL of the following:

  1. ONE of the following conditions, to include, but not limited to:

     • Guillain-Barre Syndrome
     • Medical condition that is the primary etiology of a mental dysfunction
     • Post craniotomy
     • Post-infectious disease pathology, e.g., meningitis, encephalitis
     • Stroke, cerebrovascular accident (CVA)
     • Transient ischemic attack (TIA)
     • Traumatic or anoxic brain injury

  2. Condition is considered to be non-progressive and non-degenerative
  3. Rehabilitation potential exists with the expectation for clinical and functional improvement
  4. Prognosis of the condition indicates a return to a prior level of function, e.g., modified independence, full independence or minimum assistance with caregiver support
  5. Full participation in the evaluation process and therapy program
  6. Progress in physical, occupational and speech therapies, as applicable

➢ If benefit coverage for cognitive therapy is available, cognitive therapy for all other indications not previously listed or if above criteria not met is considered experimental or investigational based upon:

1. Insufficient scientific evidence to permit conclusions concerning the effect on health outcomes, and
2. Insufficient evidence to support improvement of the net health outcome, and
3. Insufficient evidence to support improvement of the net health outcome as much as, or more than, established alternatives.
